Leveltek International LLC extends its sincerest congratulations to Brian Robbins, CEO of MidWest Materials, for earning the Association of Steel Distributors (ASD) President's Award. ASD presents the award to those individuals who demonstrates high commitment and leadership to the association and to the steel industry. Robbins was one of just three recipients of the coveted award this year.

MidWest Materials is a longtime Leveltek International client, and is one of the most recent companies to install one of Leveltek's lines.

Robbins has served as the CEO of MidWest Materials, a steel-service center in Perry, OH, for almost 20 years. The company was co-founded by Robbin's grandfather, Joseph Koppelman, who was one of the founding members of ASD and also served as president of that organization from 1968-1970.
